

Surf City students take blood drive more seriously this year

By Surf City staff and students

Surf City sixth grade students have sponsored a blood drive in the fall for several years. They invite family members, friends, and community members to participate and the students walk through the process with their visitor.

This year, however, the blood drive took on new significance for the students, because one of their own, Cameron Lanore, has a rare blood disorder. So this year, the October 1 blood drive was held in his honor. Cameron requires blood every three weeks just to survive, so the importance of the blood drive became even more meaningful and personal for the Surf City middle schoolers. •
